A keen interest in social policy and international cooperation led the business administration graduate to the Diplomatic Academy of Vienna and from there to public service and then to consulting. Veronika Meszarits has been supporting projects and reforms at federal, regional and community level as well as in outsourced societies for more than fifteen years. She specializes in the application of business management approaches and instruments in public organizations as well as public financial management. For her, clarity, structure and security are important ingredients of successful transformation processes. That is why she enjoys supporting organizations and is personally committed to promoting the continuous improvement of these. As Managing Director of the Public Accounting Institute (ICG subsidiary), Veronika Meszarits combines specialist support in the field of financial management with the holistic consulting approach of the ICG too. Alongside this, she makes frequent appearances as an expert speaker, including various university teaching positions at the university campus in Vienna.
